

COMMUNITY MEETING MONDAY FOR C. OF. C. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Big Feast on March 10 With John A. Britton as Toastmaster Will Add to Public Interest

With a community conference to which everyone is invited set for Monday evening, March 6, in Firemen's Hall and a civic dinner under process of arrangement for the evening of March 10, at the same place, events in Redwood City's campaign for a more efficient chamber of commerce began to take definite form during the week.

John A. Britton will be toastmaster at the civic dinner on the evening of March 10 and Col. C. A. Simmons, one of the best known speakers on civic subjects in the west, will give the principal address. He will speak on "The Guarantee of Tomorrow."

The fact that Mr. Britton, who enjoys a wide reputation as a toastmaster, will act as master of ceremonies insures a lively meeting, one full of fun and entertainment as well as enough seriousness to give the program balance.

At the civic conference Monday evening Frank Bartlett will act as chairman and the principal speaker will be J. D. Allen of San Francisco. Allen is well known as a speaker and he is sure to have a worth while message for the residents of Redwood City. He is well versed in civic affairs, what has been done in other communities through the thorough organization of chambers of commerce.

Admission to the civic conference will be free and everyone is not only invited but urged to attend. The meeting is primarily for the purpose of informing the residents of Redwood City of the plan to reorganize the chamber of commerce and how it will operate after the reorganization process has taken place. Plans for the work of the chamber will also be discussed.

An essay contest has been started among the students of the English classes in the high school. They will write on the subject, "Why should every resident of Redwood City be a member of the chamber of commerce?" Essays will be limited to 200 words and the one which is judged best by a committee of teachers will be read at the civic dinner. The prize essay will also be published in the Redwood City newspapers.

Four majors who will act as commanders in chief of their divisions in the drive for 300 members which will begin early on the morning of March 14 have been selected. They are W. T. Kellogg, T. C. Rice and W. P. Gray, who have agreed to share honors as majors, heading one team, J. E. Layne and C. G. Lambert. Under the majors will be five captains in each division and under each captain four workers. The city will be divided into districts and each division given a district. The drive will continue March 15, 16 and 17.

A feature of the civic dinner will be its preparation by Mayor Ryan. To make it a thoroughly community affair city firemen will serve the dinner. Tickets will be $1 each.

Those who intend to be present are urged to make their reservations in advance. This can be done by mail or calling 355 on the telephone. Redwood City Boy Scouts will act as ushers at the community conference.

William Southwood, the well known bricklaying contractor of Palo Alto, passed away at his home in Palo Alto Thursday morning following a brief illness.

The deceased was a native of England, aged 67 years. For over 30 years he had been a resident of the college town. His work extended all over the peninsula. He often had large contracts in Redwood City and neighboring towns and was well known for the good character of his work. No contractor was better known on the peninsula.

He is survived by his widow, one son and three daughters. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body will be cremated at Cypress Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Danz

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Schmidt, Mrs. Elizabeth Danz, the aged mother of Fred Danz, the local butcher, passed away Friday last after a long illness. Mrs. Danz had been making her home with her son here, but a short time ago went to the city to have some special medical treatment. She was stricken by the death of her son, William Danz, six weeks ago, and was unable to rally from the shock. Mrs. Danz was liked by all who knew her. She was a kind, loving Christian woman beloved by her family and friends. The interment took place in Holy Cross cemetery on Monday. Mrs. Danz was the wife of the late William Danz and mother of John, Henry and Fred Danz, Mrs. H. T. Sweeney, Mrs. H. Schmidt, Mrs. A. Natusch and the late Elizabeth Struble and William Danz. The last named passed away at Potrero about six weeks ago. She was a native of Germany and 78 years of age.

Death of J. Dobbins

J. Dobbins, a former local builder and contractor, died on Wednesday at his home in Dinuba. He left for the south last year after selling his home at North Fair Oaks. He is survived by a widow and young daughter. The Dobbins family was well known in Redwood City and the death of Mr. Dobbins is a severe shock to his many friends on the peninsula. He was a comparatively young man. He came here from Dinuba with his father-in-law and purchased the newspaper route and conducted the business for some time. Dobbins was well liked by everyone.

DR. BRANNER'S DEATH

Dr. John C. Branner, second president of Stanford University, passed away at his home on the campus on Tuesday an dwas buried yesterday. Dr. Branner was head of the geology department at Stanford from the beginning of the university until he became president of the institution in 1912. He was a fine, upstanding man and his influence for good was exerted upon all who came in contact with him. Many local residents who passed four years at Stanford will long cherish the memory of Dr. Branner.

DISCUSS CIVIC PROBLEMS

Forty Redwood City business men met Thursday evening at Firemen's Hall and enjoyed a sociable evening and after hearing the plan of reorganization for the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce explained by J. H. Blackmore, set the quota for the membership drive at 40 and the working fund for the coming year at $10,000. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic of the sort ever held in Redwood City. F. K. Towne presided.

The men worked upon a tentative program for the work of the chamber of commerce for the coming year and there were some 44 suggestions considered, all of them good. Out of the suggestions made a tentative program of work will be built.

AUTO CREWS ALL FULL OF BOOZE— TO GIVE NEWS THEY ALL REFUSE

Palatial Home of Julien Hart, at Menlo Park Ransacked and $25,000 Booze Robbery Staged

The sheriff's office was busy yesterday running down every clue to the robbery of the Ringwood road, Menlo Park, and the taking of a big lot of liquor. At a late hour last evening a good line had been secured on the burglary and it is expected that wholesale arrests will be made today. Yesterday Judge Griffin issued nine warrants for the arrest of the culprits. Many were John Doe warrants, but a few contained the proper names. Alrian Gourselle was arrested in San Francisco yesterday and charged with participation in the robbery.

The main clue to the burglary was given to the officers by William Feeley, the gardener for Judge Charles Shurtliff, who has a home adjoining the McNear residence. Feeley saw one of the automobiles going into the McNear home. The driver acted suspiciously and he took the number of the machine and this was given to the officers, who have been enabled to secure the name of the owner. This information given by Feeley will no doubt lead to the arrest of the gang that entered the house and took from the cellar large quantities of the choicest brands of liquor.

The McNear home was leased to Julien Hart, a wealthy merchant of New York, last summer and he with his family has resided happily there.

Wednesday night nine masked men entered the home, which is one of the show places of the peninsula. They bound and gagged seven members of the household, three of them women, and after a drunken revel lasting until daylight next day fled with 100 cases of whiskey valued at $25,000 and several valuable Persian rugs.

A Wild Scene

Dragging women from their beds by their hair, blinding them securely with rope wound around and around their forms and rolling their victims clear under the beds, the bandit crew staged a systematic search of the mansion. The victims lay for many hours on the floor of the living room unable to move. They were:

Julien Hart, of B. Hart & Bros., silk manufacturer, San Francisco.

Miss Mary Conway, guest, Stanford student and former aviatrix.

Daniel DeVries, butler.

Herman DeVries, houseman.

Sarah Gannon, cook.

Elizabeth Bennett, maid.

Rolan dSmith, chauffeur.

Hart states that had it not been for the dominance of the leader of the gang who repeatedly restrained his followers threats of violence might have been carried out.

Hart Tells of Robbery

"The bandits entered with swaggering bravado about 10 o'clock," said Hart. "They first bound and gagged us all and then demanded whiskey. Their demands were insistent and emphasized with the flourish of revolvers. There was no temporizing with them. They ransacked the house for liquor, found it and began to drink. At first they appeared to be rather decent fellows. As they raised their glasses to drink they were inclined to offer a toast. Later, as they continued to drink their brutal nature became evident.

Big sensations are expected today. Late last night it was reported that a portion of the stolen whiskey had been located.

Too Many Checks Out— BUT NOT ENOUGH CASH IN

Local Dyeing and Cleaning Man and a Veteran of the World War Makes Big Clean-Up

Joseph E. Smith, for the past 7 months connected with the New Method dyeing and cleaning works at 237 Main street, left Saturday under a cloud. Before leaving he had passed a number of fictitious checks on local merchants amounting to several hundred dollars. He also left a few unpaid promissory notes endorsed by friends here totaling $750. Smith had the confidence of all, business men trusted him and it was very easy on Saturday afternoon when the banks were closed to secure funds on his personal check. It is believed he received upwards of a thousand dollars in cash on leaving. A warrant has been issued for his arrest and the officers are looking up every clue as to his whereabouts.

It is thought he has gone to Tia Juana, Mexico.

Smith saw active service in the world war and was gassed at the battle of the Argonne. Also he had fought in the Spanish-American war and with the Canadian forces in the Boer war. He made many friends since coming to Redwood City about a year ago, he and his wife taking a prominent part in all social activities.

Smith left a note addressed to his wife telling her he had gone, but not to worry, as he would return with sufficient money to meet all his obligations.

GOING TO EAST INDIES

Hubert Kirkpatrick, son of Mrs. Lila Kirkpatrick of this city, left on Wednesday for Seattle and today will sail for Singapore, Straits Settlements. From there he will go to Ipoh in the province of Perach, Malay Peninsula. Mr. Kirkpatrick is an electrical engineer and goes to his new work as an employee of the Guthrie interests. He was connected with the same company for several years in Alaska and expects to enjoy his new assignment, as it will bring him in contact with many new phases of his profession.

Mrs. Williams Crowns of Omaha, Neb., who has been spending the winter with her niece, Mrs. Elmer Browne, on Jefferson street, is nursing a broken collarbone sustained when she fell down some steps.

If you are a man of "vision" you'll be careful not to see what doesn't concern you.

MAJORS IN CHARGE OF C. OF. C. DRIVE

Upon the shoulders of the four majors will fall the greatest responsibility in the campaign for members to be waged by the chamber of commerce which will open on the morning of March 14 and continue four days.

The men who have assumed this burden of responsibility are W. T. Kellogg, J. E. Layne, C. G. Lambert, T. C. Rice and W. P. Gray, who have agreed to divide honors in heading the fourth team.

The majors held an enthusiastic meeting Thursday at which they selected their captains. The captains will meet next Tuesday to select their workers.

Business men are daily coming to the realization that the reorganization of the chamber of commerce and its new membership is the beginning of the most important work ever started in Redwood City. In this work the majors are those really responsible for the beginning—the first support needed by a chamber of commerce, big membership.

Upon the majors will fall the responsibility not only of team organization, but the results which follow that organization.

All of them believe that the drive will be a success and that at least a membership of 300 wide awake men and women of Redwood City will result.

FOPPIANO TO ASSIST MAKING TAX RETURNS

Frank L. Foppiano, deputy internal revenue collector, will be at the court house on March 8, 9, 10 and 11 for the purpose of assisting the taxpayers in preparing their income tax returns. He will be located in the library in the second story of the building. Mr. Foppiano was here last year and the taxpayers will be pleased to know that he is returning. He is an affable, efficient and capable deputy who tries his best to make it as easy as possible for the income taxpayer. He is patient and courteous in giving assistance to the many who will require his aid. Mr. Foppiano is a resident of San Mateo county. If there were more men like him in public service the people would have no cause for complaint.

SEQUOIA BOYS ARE BASKETBALL CHAMPS

It has been a long time since the local high school has had a winning team in any of its athletic activities. This year both the 130-pound and the unlimited basketball teams won the championships of the P. A. L. Because of their victories the student body of Sequoia has presented the members of the two squads with sweaters and a block "S." The presentation was made at assembly yesterday morning. J. D. Hedge, president of the Sequoia Alumni Association, made the presentation address. He was followed by Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, Coach Griffin and several other speakers. Redwood City is to be congratulated on having such fine, clean players to uphold the honor of the town.

JUDGE ORDERS REVIEW OF PROCEEDINGS

Late yesterday afternoon Judge Buck granted a writ of review on the petition of Kenneth Murray to have the proceedings of the board of supervisors in calling for an election on March 7 to form the Fair Oaks sanitary district reviewed. The writ is returnable on March 6 when the whole matter will be thrashed out by the court. Murray also asks an injunction to prevent the election officers from holding the election on March 7. This probably will be decided by the court Monday if the proceedings of the board are found to be irregular.

Some time ago the supervisors granted the petition of the Fair Oaks sanitary district to hold an election on March 7 and the Washington sanitary district to hold an election on April 1. Mr. Murray in his petition says that the Washington district takes in all of the proposed territory of the Fair Oaks district, while the latter includes only a portion of the former district and that many property owners would be injured if the Fair Oaks district should be organized. The latter includes all of the property from Five Points to Atherton avenue. J. J. Bullock and Archer Kincaid represent Mr. Murray, while Stuart & Machado appear for the Fair Oaks district. The suit is brought against the supervisors, Lillie Goertch and other signers of the Fair Oaks petition.

Thompson Will Is Filed

The last will and testament of the late Robert Henry Thompson, who died last month at his home in Wellesley Park, was admitted to probate in the superior court on Thursday. The will is dated January 10, 1921. By the terms of the instrument half of the entire estate is bequeathed to the decedent's widow, Jane Thompson. The other half is left in trust to the First Federal Trust Company of San Francisco. From the estate St. Vincent's Hospital of Portland is to receive the sum of $1,000; the Portland Babies' Home, $1,000; W. E. Day, a friend, $1,000. The trust company is to invest the funds of half of the estate and the income thereof is to be paid as follows: Hannah Livingston of New York, $25 a month; Mrs. John H. Long, Bellingham, Wash., $50 a month; Robert H. Thompson, a son, such money as he may need for his education, expenses, etc. He is now attending Santa Clara University. When he arrives at the age of 21 he is to receive $100 a month and from 23 to 28 he is to get $200 a month; at 35 he is to receive the entire income of the estate. The decedent purposely omits the mention of his two former wives in the will.

The income of the estate is $1,000 a month. Judge Buck in admitting the will made an order allowing the widow $500 a month for her support and the son $10 a month for pocket money for the son at the university.

H. W. Schaberg has been appointed inheritance tax appraiser of the estate, which is estimated to be worth $350,000.

BENNETT BUMPED FOR BOOTLEGGING

At a special meeting of the board of town trustees held last Monday evening the license of Edward Bennett, who for the past six months conducted a tax-licence drink place in the Foley building on Broadway, was revoked. He was cited to appear at a previous meeting of the board to show cause why his license should not be revoked. He was charged with selling liquor to minors. The board was unanimous in revoking the license.

Last Saturday Bennett was arrested on a charge made by Robert Tucker, the 19-year-old son of Ernest Tucker, accusing Bennett of selling young Tucker intoxicating liquor. Bennett's bail was fixed at $5,000. This sum was furnished on Thursday by A. Hess and Harry Hallett.

WOMAN TO BE NAMED FOR REDWOOD CITY TRUSTEE

Redwood City is not going to be behind San Francisco in regard to the personnel of its board of trustees. The city board has a woman member, Mary Margaret Morgan, who during her short time as a member of the city board of supervisors has made the men members stand around, quit smoking and refrain from using slang in their speeches. A young lady of Redwood City is being groomed to make the run for town trustee at the coming municipal election on April 10. She is one of Redwood City's most prepossessing young ladies, a good business woman, a fine parliamentarian and a splendid speaker. This young lady is an expert vote getter and will surely be elected. When on the town council she promises to reform things. She will be a foe to bootleggers and was to the member of the board that will use vulgar language at the meetings. She is to be the Mary Margaret Morgan of Redwood City. Her campaign is to be endorsed by the Redwood City Woman's Club.

HIKOK HERE FOR SENTENCE FOR MALPRACTICE

Dr. Galen R. Hikok was arrested in San Francisco yesterday and late last evening was brought to the county jail. He will be resented by Judge Duck today or early next week. He was found guilty by a jury in the superior court last year on a charge of malpractice on two young women committed at the "Castle" at Salda Beach. He appealed the case and a short time ago the higher tribunal confirmed the decision of the lower court. He will be sent to San Quentin to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years. The doctor was defended at the trial by Kenneth M. Green, now deputy United States attorney.

HARDING AT HOME AND WILSON ABROAD

In presenting to the senate the treaties agreed upon at the armistice conference President Harding occupied a position much stronger than that occupied by President Wilson when he presented the treaty agreed upon at Versailles. Mr. Harding was in a position to argue that the honor of the country required the ratification of the treaty. President Wilson and his supporters undertook to make such a claim in behalf of the treaty of peace with its league of nations encumbrance, but the plea gained no credence anywhere.

The difference between the two situations is clear. President Wilson went to Paris practically alone. He took with him a few subordinates, but he neither counseled with them nor received from them any suggestions. They were mere clerks carrying information to give him if called for. Neither directly nor indirectly did he take the advice of the senate nor keep the senate informed as to the steps he was taking. Moreover, it has been reported that President Wilson intended to incorporate in the peace treaty the league of nations covenant, 33 members of the senate notified him in writing and by the adoption of a resolution that they would not support the treaty with any such provision in it. With that knowledge before him and before the other nations represented at Versailles, President Wilson continued in his determination to interweave the league of nations covenant in the peace treaty in such a way that the whole must be accepted or rejected. He undertook to force the senate to give its sanction to agreements with which the senate disagreed.

No such methods were pursued by President Harding. Instead of going personally as a delegate to the conference he appointed four of the ablest men in the United States, two of them members of the senate and leaders of their respective political parties. These four men in constant consultation among themselves and with the president and with the members of the senate represented the interests and desires of the United States government. Moreover, the senate had already, by adoption of a resolution, declared its desire that treaties be made providing for limitation of armament and settling vexatious questions in the Pacific. This it will be seen the president made the treaties with the advice of the senate.

In one other respect President Harding's position was much stronger than that of President Wilson. At the same time that he submitted the treaties to the senate he placed before that body a complete copy of the minutes of the proceedings by which the terms of the treaties were arrived at. In other words, he placed before the senate all the information in his possession bearing upon the agreements by which it was proposed the United States should be bound. Not so did President Wilson. A vast amount of the data pertaining to the peace conference at Versailles was hidden away in what has since been called the "steel box," and only in recent weeks have the senate and the public been permitted to know a portion of the contents of that box and even at this late date only such portions as an editor acting under the direction of Mr. Wilson saw fit to make known through the columns of a limited number of newspapers.

President Wilson proceeded to negotiate a treaty in violation of both the spirit and the letter of the United States constitution. President Harding paid due respect to both.

THE SPIRIT OF COMPROMISE

The spirit of compromise which is so important in a representative form of government and also essential in the management of the internal affairs of a political party, was frequently demonstrated at the time of the adoption of the United States constitution. There were many features of that constitution which did not meet the full approval of the delegates from all the states. In fact the differences in some particulars were so serious and some delegates were so steadfast in adherence to their opinions that there was serious doubt whether a constitution could be framed and adopted. During the discussion one of the delegates who was most influential in bringing harmony of action was Benjamin Franklin, America's greatest diplomat, statesman and philosopher. In an address urging adoption of the constitution and the submerging of minor differences he said:

"In these sentiments, sir, I agree to this constitution with all its faults—if there are such. I doubt whether any other convention we can obtain may be able to make a better constitution; for, when you assemble a number of men, to have the advantage of their joint wisdom, you inevitably assemble with those men all their prejudices, their passions, their errors of opinion, their local interests and their selfish views. From such an assembly can a perfect production be expected? I consent to this constitution because I expect no better and because I am not sure that it is not the best. The opinions I have had of its errors I sacrifice to the public good. I have never whispered a syllable of them abroad. Within these walls they were born and here they shall die."

freed to the public good. I have never whispered a syllable of them abroad. Within these walls they were born and here they shall die. I can not help expressing a wish that every member of the convention who may still have objections to it would meet me on this occasion doubt a syllable of his own infidelity and, to make manifest our unanimity, put his name to this instrument."

If this spirit always were manifested by members of congress, by delegates to party conventions and by members of organized bodies everywhere, definite accomplishment would be greatly expedited. If every man who had an objection to some feature of the United States constitution had gone out of the convention and opposed the adoption of this government could not have been formed and our enemies would have rejoiced to observe colonies which they could not subdue bringing about their own destruction by conflict among themselves. If every member of congress who has some objection to a measure should refuse to support that measure on final passage, few important pieces of legislation could be enacted.

The same principles apply to the shaping and acceptance of party policies. If every man who had been dissatisfied with some features of the Republican platform of 1920 or who preferred some other candidate at the head of the ticket had gone abroad declaiming against the action of the convention, there is little likelihood that the Republican party would have won at the election. Fortunately the great mass of the American people and the vast majority of the members of the Republican party are willing to sink their individual differences and, in the words of Benjamin Franklin, to "doubt a little of their own infallibility." When the Republican party has spoken in convention or in party caucus it is well that there should be adopted the rule laid down for his own conduct by Benjamin Franklin when he said, "The opinions I have had of its errors I sacrifice to the public good. I have never whispered a syllable of them abroad. Within these walls they were born and here they shall die."

STRAIGHT TO STEPHENS

That was a pretty husky and earnest delegation of peninsula people that visited Sacramento Monday. It was made up of representatives from South San Francisco to Palo Alto, the majority being from San Mateo, Burlingame and Hillsborough.

Governor Stephens was really surprised. He didn't have sufficient room in the executive office to receive the whole bunch, so they went to the assembly chamber and there the peninsula mess was delivered by Daniel C. Imboden, secretary of the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce. It was plainly a demand for the removal of Commissioner Moody from the board of harbor commissioners and the issuance of an order directing that body to desist from efforts to force the Southern Pacific to put in a drawbridge at a point in San Francisco that would interfere with the speedy operation of its trains to and from the peninsula. The governor promised to look into the matter and to take action after having become fully advised on all phases of the controversy.

It is not to be taken for granted that the peninsula has done all it can in the matter. To be sure the protest has been made where it will do the most good. The other side, however, will answer; also it will exert itself harder than ever to secure the opening of that channel so that the lands inside the railroad boundary may have the advantage of access to water transportation. It is private enterprise that wants the drawbridge; it is public convenience that demands the channel be kept closed.

Commuters who view that district daily know that there is no navigation to the west of the railroad. In order to secure anything of the sort very extensive dredging operations would be necessary, entailing big public expenditures both for initiating and maintaining the artificial waterway. Of course it would add to the value of the lands adjoining the dredging operations. Moody is one of the land owners. Rightly or wrongly it is alleged he is using his official position, as a member of the board of harbor commissioners to advance his own private interests.

External vigilance is the price of safety. Having aroused public sentiment in opposition to the channel proposition it is incumbent upon the peninsula people to keep that sentiment very much alive and active. It is absolutely necessary to be on the watch all the time, to resolve, to demand, to kick and struggle until the last vestige of fight has been destroyed. The organized demonstration was good. Now it should be backed up by a campaign of personal letters from peninsula people to the governor demanding that the status quo as to the railroad be maintained in perpetuity. Write right now in the right way to the right people.

MENLO PARK NEWS

Edward Hamilton in his political column has this to say of a fellow townsman:

"In San Mateo county there is considerable talk that young S. M. Shortridge, Jr., is to oppose Assemblyman Frank Ekwad at the Republican primaries. Ekwad started out against the King bill but was swung into line by the bus transportation men, who didn't want to be burdened with the taxes the big corporations were trying to escape."

Shortridge has not made known his intentions concerning his candidacy, but it is well known quite a number of the leading citizens of the county have urged him to make the race. He certainly would win.

Mrs. T. F. Payne, a former resident of Menlo Park, passed away last Friday in New York from pneumonia. She was preparing for a trip to Paris when she became sick. Mrs. Payne sold her beautiful home here last summer to Leon Douglas. For a time she resided in San Mateo and a short time ago she left for New York. It was her intention to spend some time in Paris. Mrs. Payne had resided in Menlo Park for a great many years and was universally liked. She was a niece of the late William S. O'Brien of the Comstock fame. She is survived by her three sons and leaves a large estate.

Dr. W. A. Brooke, district deputy grand president of the Native Sons, installed the officers of Menlo Park, N. S. G. W., Thursday evening. A number of visitors were present from Halfmoon Bay and from the bay parlors. After the impressive ceremony refreshments were served to the big number present.

Monday night in Native Sons Hall a card party will take place under the auspices of the Native Sons and Daughters for the benefit of homeless children. Good prices. Refreshments free. Come and help the motherless and fatherless.

Martin & Grady, plumbers from Vallejo, have leased the old Camp Fire building in the Maloney block and are prepared to do a general plumbing business. They have a complete supply of machinery and stock to meet all demands.

George E. Meekins has resigned his position as postmaster at Stanford University, after serving seven years. The resignation will take effect March 1. Mr. Meekins was a resident of Menlo Park up until a short time before his appointment as postmaster. For a number of years he was engaged in business here. Owing to ill health Mr. Meekins was compelled to give up his work. He hopes to visit his former home in Maryland very soon.

Miss Elizabeth Brophy passed away at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco on Friday last following a capital operation. Following a requiem mass in St. Patrick's church in the city the remains were brought to Holy Cross cemetery here for burial. Miss Brophy was a native of Alameda county and was 54 years of age. She was a sister of Mrs. A. W. Gale of Menlo Park and of Jas. Brophy of Palo Alto. Miss Brophy often visited her sister here.

Mrs. Frank Derry went to San Francisco on Wednesday to attend the funeral of John F. Finn, brother of Thomas F. Finn, sheriff of San Francisco. The deceased was an old friend of the Derry family. Mr. Finn died suddenly on Monday morning. For many years he was an attaché of the district court of appeals. He is survived by his widow and five children.

The rainfall for the season has been 14.08 inches as against 16.44 inches at this time last year.

F. Krauer and E. P. Lillie, owners of the Triumph Cafe, have purchased the corner on Oak Grove avenue and the highway opposite the O'Keefe block. The owners contemplate the erection of a large structure on the property during the coming summer.

The beautiful live oak trees at the residence of the late Charles N. Felton are being ruthlessly cut down by the new owner. The senator would no doubt turn over in his resting place if he knew these trees which he prized so much in life were being destroyed. They are centuries old and cannot be replaced.

The case of Mrs. James King vs. J. Dotzel was up for a hearing before Judge Hudson at Redwood City this week. After argument the action was continued. Mrs. King is suing Dotzel for $2,260 and costs, claiming that her property at Menlo Heights was damaged to that extent when Dotzel set fire to the dry grass in an adjoining lot last summer and without sufficient help the fire got beyond control and burned down the fence, fifteen fruit trees, a chicken house and other buildings.

WILL OF MRS. PAULINE PAYNE MAKES BEQUESTS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Late yesterday afternoon the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco filed in the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Nash the last will and testament of Mrs. Pauline Payne, who died in the city of New York on February 11. The will is dated June 16, 1919. By its terms the Mercantile Trust Company is made the executor. Her youngest son, Arthur C. Payne, residing in San Francisco, is bequeathed the sum of $500,000. He may receive the sum quest in money or its equivalent in property. The rest and residue of the estate is bequeathed in equal shares to her three sons, Arthur C. Payne, Herbert Payne and Clarence Payne, the two last named living in New York. Arthur Payne must be paid his $500,000 before any other settlements are made. The petition does not state the value of the estate, but it is believed that it will pass the million mark.

YOUR INCOME TAXES
Numerous inquiries have been received regarding the proper interpretation of Section 223 of the revenue act of 1921, which provides that each individual whose gross income for 1921 was $5,000 or over shall file a return regardless of his or her net income.
Gross income means statutory gross income, defined by the revenue act to include "gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages, or compensation for personal service of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, or from professions, vocations, trades, businesses, commerce or sales or dealings in property, whether real or personal, growing out of the ownership or use of or interest in such property; also from interest, rent, dividends, securities, or the transaction of any business carried on for gain or profit and income derived from any source whatever."
Gross income does not necessarily mean gross receipts. A merchant, for instance, in computing statutory gross income, should deduct therefrom the cost of goods sold. For example, a merchant may have gross receipts amounting to $10,000, but the cost of the goods sold amounts to $7,000. He has no other income. The statutory gross income would be $3,000. In case the other deductions allowed him for business expenses, taxes, interest, bad debts, etc., amount to $2,500, his net income would be $500. No return of income is required in this case.

A lawyer who is married and living with his wife has gross receipts in the form of fees amounting to $6,000 and his necessary business expenses amount to $4,200, leaving a net income of only $1,800. A return will be required in this case, as the taxpayer's gross income as well as gross receipts is $6,000.

HOST OF FRIENDS ATTEND THE FUNERAL SERVICES OF W. H. V. KING

Death Came to Well Known Citizen After Very Brief Attack of Pneumonia

Mount Carmel church was crowded yesterday morning with sorrowing friends who had gathered to pay their last respects to a departed pioneer. W. H. V. King, who had answered the death angel's call at 3 Wednesday morning, following a brief illness from pneumonia. A requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul, at the completion of which Father C. E. Kennedy delivered a very touching tribute on the life and character of the deceased. He said Mr. King was beloved by all for his stability, honesty of purpose and beauty of character. He was proud of his religion and he lived according to its tenets. His life was pure, unadorned and no wonder then that he was beloved by his associates and those who were near and dear to him.
The pallbearers were A. D. Walsh, Arthur Thompson, Joseph Haher, P. A. Ryan, D. A. Stafford and James Coleman.
The remains of the deceased were laid away in Holy Cross cemetery, Menlo Park, where his mother and father are buried.
The news of the death of Mr. King on Wednesday morning came as a great shock to his many friends in Redwood City who were not aware of his illness. He was taken sick last week while at his work at Palo Alto, being employed there by the Young Drug Company. On Monday last he suffered an attack of pneumonia. Dr. Gregory was called, but despite all that medical treatment could do Mr. King succumbed after batling with the dreaded disease for two days.

He was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry King, who were married in Redwood City and who were pioneers.
W. H. V. King was born in Australia while his mother was on a visit there to settle property rights in which she was interested. The mother returned to Redwood City when her son was a year old. He attended the grammar school and after graduation apprenticed himself to A. D. Walsh, then owner of the Pioneer Drug Store, to learn the drug business. He afterward graduated from the college of pharmacy of the state university. Mr. King was accounted an expert pharmacist. When Mr. Walsh formed the A. D. Walsh Drug Company Mr. King became a stockholder. After the company was absorbed by C. A. Young Mr. King became head clerk, later going to Palo Alto to take the management of Mr. Young's store there.

Mr. King was 51 years old. He was unmarried, lived quietly at his cory home at 523 Maple street. He was a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus and a social member of the Foresters.
Mrs. Honora King of this city is his aunt. His cousins are Frank King, the attorney, whose family resides here, and Mrs. Dolly Granger and "Doc" King of Portola.
W. H. V. King will live long in the memory of his many friends who loved him dearly.

DEATH OF MRS. CONOLLEY
Conolley—in Washington, D. C. February 20, 1922, Marguerite Willard Conolley, beloved wife of Edward D. Conolley, loving mother of Mollie, Edward, Lucile, Paul and Beth, loving daughter of George B. Willard and the late Seward Willard, loving sister of Stanton D. and Melburn Willard, a native of Illinois. (Redwood City and Willows papers please copy.)

The above notice, which appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle on Thursday gave the news of the death of Mrs. E. C. Conolley, which occurred in Washington, D. C., on Monday. Mrs. Conolley has resided in this neighborhood for the past fifteen years. As a young lady she came from Illinois to Redwood City where her father, the late S. E. Willard, came to California to take charge of the book business of the McClure Publishing Co. In 1910 she was granted a certificate by the county board of education and for 3 years was principal of the Woodside school. She then resigned her position and was married to Mr. Conolley.

The Conoleys made their home in the hills back of Portola and there four children were born to bless their household. Mrs. Conolley was an ideal wife and mother. She was ever of a cheerful, happy disposition and everyone who knew her loved her and admired her for her fine traits of character. Mr. Conolley has the sympathy of the entire community in his great loss.

Be sure you're right, if you can be, but anyway be sure you think you're right.

But the fool who is wise in his own conceit probably is happier than one who isn't wise at all.

When a man refers to a girl as "a good scout" the girl shouldn't feel complimented. He merely means she is all right to play with.

If you don't care what people say about you, pretty soon they won't care to say anything.

Even when a man admits that he is a sinner it isn't safe to agree with him.

Criminals usually are not polite, but they often beg a pardon.

A woman's intuition tells her a lot of things, but never that she is getting old or fat.

A woman doesn't "make a fool of a man" unless he already has made one of himself.

For some reason neither a woman nor a child can tell a lie more convincingly than they can tell the truth.

By the time a man gets old enough to know better, he's generally too old for it to make any difference.
